

LEANNE MORGAN
Fisher Theatre • Saturday, June 22

At midlife Leanne is truly just getting started and hopes that she can inspire others to feel the same. It's never too late to start something that you love!

The comedian's unique brand of comedy is grounded in her relatability and her no-holds-barred descriptions of motherhood (i.e.; What to do when puberty turns your children into monsters), dieting (i.e.; When it's almost summer and you don't have a bikini body), and marriage (i.e.; Two things that make a man happy), etc. all delivered with her sweet Southern charm.

"I named my second tour 'Just Getting Started' because I'm a 50-something mother and grandmother that's having the time of my life! This is a dream come true! I truly feel like I am in the prime of my life. I've had the honor to travel to 100 cities across this great country performing in front of my fans who feel like my best friends. I'll be sharing more stories of my real life, my family and my experiences and I hope people will still come away from this new hour saying, 'this is MY life- is Leanne spying on me?'"
