Speaker

George Beattie FCII, Head of Innovation, CFC

In this IIL London market webinar, George Beattie explains why insurance has a poor reputation for innovation, but why things are changing. In recent years certain participants in the Lloyd's market have made significant progress in cultivating a disruptive and open culture of collaboration. In this webinar, the speaker examines the mechanisms for encouraging breakthrough innovation in the Lloyd's market and considers why some innovations succeed and others fail.

Learning Objectives

- What's happening at Lloyd's with regards to innovation?
- How can I engage in innovation myself
- How can my company formulate a successful approach to disruptive innovation?
