

Investment Objective: Achieving long term capital growth in real terms and steadily increasing income. Our aim is to achieve a higher rate of total return than the FTSE All-Share Index Total Return through investing in a diversified portfolio of stocks.

Fund Managers' Comments

In August the Trust's net asset value rose 1.6%, outperforming the FTSE All-Share benchmark return of 0.7%.

Within the portfolio the best performers included gene sequencer Oxford Nanopore, where the new CEO set out their medium term guidance for the company alongside their first half results, including an unexpected $20mn upfront licensing fee from an (unnamed) new global diagnostics partner. The holding in IP Group, which owns a modest stake in Oxford Nanopore, performed well for the same reason. Among the largest detractors from performance was ferry company Irish Continental, where there is a Board recommended takeover offer. It is unclear, however, whether the vote will pass the 75% threshold needed for shareholder approval and this caused some volatility in the share price.

During the month we took profits in two of the contractors held – Balfour Beatty and Kier – following excellent long-term performance. For the same reason we also reduced a number of the bank holdings including Lloyds, HSBC and Barclays. Proceeds were partially rotated into existing holdings that in our view are modestly valued including pharmaceutical companies GSK and Sanofi (both of which are trading below 10x forecasted forward earnings).

Looking ahead, the focus of the UK market is likely to be on the late October Budget from the new Chancellor as well as interest rate decisions from the Bank of England, with UK inflation remaining stubbornly above the 2% target. While these factors, alongside the ongoing Middle East conflict, create the potential for market volatility we continue to see the portfolio as modestly valued (on under 14x 12 month historic earnings) for a diverse collection of well managed businesses.

Important information

Company specific risks

- This trust is suitable to be used as one component in several in a diversified investment portfolio. Circa 18 per cent. of the net asset value ('NAV') of the trust's portfolio is an investment in an independent professional service company. Investors should consider carefully the proportion of their portfolio invested into this trust.
- Active management techniques that have worked well in normal market conditions could prove ineffective or detrimental at other times.
- The trust could lose money if a counterparty with which it trades becomes unwilling or unable to meet its obligations to the trust.
- Shares can lose value rapidly, and typically involve higher risks than bonds or money market instruments. The value of your investment may fall as a result.
- The return on your investment is directly related to the prevailing market price of the trust's shares, which will trade at a varying discount (or premium) relative to the value of the underlying assets of the trust. As a result losses (or gains) may be higher or lower than those of the trust's assets.
- The trust holds an investment in the IPS business which are wholly owned subsidiaries and private shares.
- If a trust's portfolio is concentrated towards a particular country or geographical region, the investment carries greater risk than a portfolio diversified across more countries.
- The trust may use gearing as part of its investment strategy. If the trust utilises its ability to gear, the profits and losses incurred by the trust can be greater than those of a trust that does not use gearing.
