

Investment Objective: Achieving long term capital growth in real terms and steadily increasing income. Our aim is to achieve a higher rate of total return than the FTSE Actuaries All-Share Index Total Return through investing in a diversified portfolio of stocks.

Fund Managers' Comments

In March, the Trust's underlying NAV (with debt at FV) before adjusting for the final dividend payment, fell 7.0%, underperforming the FTSE All-Share which fell 6.7%. It was a poor month for UK and global equity markets, as the conflict in Iran led to a sharp rise in oil prices, re-igniting fears of inflationary pressures at a time when inflation and interest rates had otherwise been heading downwards.

The weakest performers in the portfolio during the month tended to be stocks most sensitive to interest rate expectations, such as commercial property and house building. It is rare to see such a fast reversal of interest rate expectations – having previously assumed roughly two interest rate cuts over the remainder of the year, the market instead began pricing in roughly three interest rate increases. Time will tell whether this new assumption proves to be correct. The UK labour market is weaker than it was at the time of the last commodity price increase (following the war in Ukraine). In our view this means there is less chance of a wage-price spiral, and therefore central banks may have reason to be more cautious than the market currently expects on interest rate rises. The best performers during March were commodity producers (such as BP, Shell and Serica Energy) as well as defence providers such as BAE Systems.

From a transactions perspective, on share price weakness we added to a number of existing positions such as fund manager (and owner of interactive investor) Aberdeen, free-to-air broadcaster and content producer ITV, and car distributor Inchcape. These were funded by a full sale of the holding in Tesco, which had performed well and had re-rated to a higher than historic average valuation.

Company specific risks

- This trust is suitable to be used as one component in several in a diversified investment portfolio. Circa 18 per cent. of the net asset value ('NAV') of the trust's portfolio is an investment in an independent professional service company. Investors should consider carefully the proportion of their portfolio invested into this trust.
- Active management techniques that have worked well in normal market conditions could prove ineffective or detrimental at other times.
- The trust could lose money if a counterparty with which it trades becomes unwilling or unable to meet its obligations to the trust.
- Shares can lose value rapidly, and typically involve higher risks than bonds or money market instruments. The value of your investment may fall as a result.
- The return on your investment is directly related to the prevailing market price of the trust's shares, which will trade at a varying discount (or premium) relative to the value of the underlying assets of the trust. As a result losses (or gains) may be higher or lower than those of the trust's assets.
- The trust holds an investment in the IPS business which are wholly owned subsidiaries and private shares.
- If a trust's portfolio is concentrated towards a particular country or geographical region, the investment carries greater risk than a portfolio diversified across more countries.
- The trust may use gearing as part of its investment strategy. If the trust utilises its ability to gear, the profits and losses incurred by the trust can be greater than those of a trust that does not use gearing.
